Fire Island Lighthouse  The first lighthouse built on Fire Island was built in 1826. It was painted yellow but was changed to the black & white bands in 1891.
Horton Point Lighthouse The Horton Point Lighthouse was built in 1856, and it was first lit in 1857. The light was originally fueled by whale oil and kerosene.
Explorer: There’s nothing like a ride on the Long Island Ferries.
East Marion Dinghy.
Sometimes the simple things in life are the best.
Windsails. Aren't these beautiful? How many colors will you use for this picture?
Blue Point Clam and Oyster: This is Blue Point Clam & Oyster in West Sayville. For many years Long Island, New York, provided the majority of clams to the entire United States.
Buoy  A buoy is a channel marker that is used to navigate through the waterways.